CBE STUDENT SERVICES

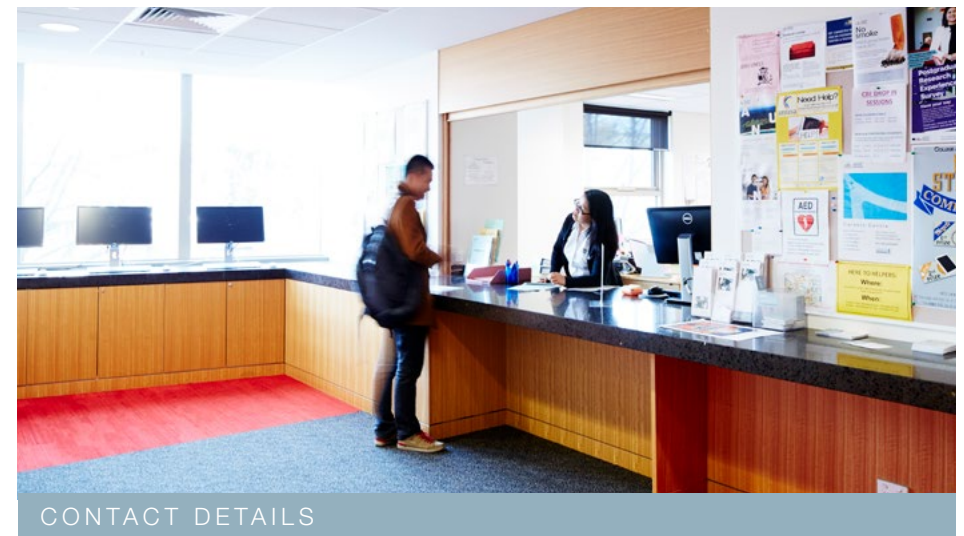

ANU offers a range of services and resources to ensure our students succeed at university. Find out more about:

- > how to plan out your degree
- > support related to your classes
- > academic skills workshops
- > the on-campus health centre
- > mental health and wellbeing
- > support for disabilities and short-term conditions
- > student associations and networks.

There are plenty of people at ANU and the College of Business and Economics to help guide you on your student journey.

The Student Services team is here to help you get through your program successfully and on time. We can help you plan your program to get the most out of the different opportunities available in the College. Some of the things we can help with include:

- > provide advice on which courses to take to complete your program
- > help you plan your program so you can go on an overseas exchange, study tour, or do a course at one of our international partner universities
- > talk to you about fitting an internship or other opportunity into your program to help you get ready for your professional life
- > guide you to the right services at the University if you're having difficulty with your studies
- > help you if you are considering transferring programs, adding or dropping classes
- > be the first point of contact if you have any questions or difficulty finding information.

COUNSELLING CENTRE

The ANU Counselling Centre promotes, supports and enhances mental health and wellbeing within the University student community. The Centre is a free, confidential and non-diagnostic service available to all currently enrolled ANU students.

ANU Counselling Centre counsellors are the experts in tertiary student mental health. This can range from awareness raising and early intervention to help for more serious concerns such as depression and anxiety.

Group programs and information sessions are regularly offered each semester by the ANU Counselling Centre, including:

- > understanding mental health for international students
- > social success
- > procrastination and motivation
- > everyday mindfulness
- > suicide prevention
- > Mindfulness Community of Practice
- > Get Up and Go walking program

ACCESS AND INCLUSION

The ANU Access and Inclusion group assists students who have a disability, medical condition or who are recognised primary carers of a person with a disability, to participate fully in their program of study by providing advice and support that minimise the impact of disability in education.

The definition of disability is based on the Disability Discrimination Act (DDA) 1992 and includes:

- > deafness and hearing impairment
- > blindness and vision impairment
- > physical disability
- > specific learning disability
- > psychiatric disability
- > acquired brain injury
- > chronic medical conditions
- > temporary disability (e.g. broken limb, affected mobility, or short term medical conditions).
